Brad Burvan

Head Golf Professional

Brad is committed to making the game of golf better for you and your enjoyment. With over 35 years playing the game of golf and over 20 years teaching and coaching, Brad brings a simple, unique style of teaching that focuses on the golfer's abilities, rather than a particular method.

Brad adapts this style to a wide range of individuals including beginners, average and highly skilled players. He is also well-known and respected by the golfing community for his friendly personality, professional manner, and positive energy.

Brad's main objectives are to increase your skills as a golfer, ensure the enjoyment of the game, give you the understanding of your own golf swing, and build a long-term relationship.
